"In learning you will teach, and in teaching, you will learn." - Phil Collins

In February, our school buzzed with a myriad of enriching activities, fostering both academic and extracurricular growth among the students. From captivating guest speakers to spirited sports competitions, February was a month brimming with opportunities for learning, creativity and community engagement. Let's delve into the vibrancy of events that made February so enriching and engaging.

Basant Panchami was celebrated with enthusiasm and devotion at MSS. The festival, dedicated to Goddess Saraswati—the deity of wisdom and learning—was marked with great reverence. Students and staff wore vibrant yellow clothes, symbolizing energy and prosperity. Special activities and yellow-themed food added joy and colour to the celebration.

Students at MSS were appreciated and applauded for maintaining excellent attendance and adhering to the school uniform code. This recognition fostered a sense of pride and responsibility among them.

An engaging session on pet care and yoga was conducted for the primary students, promoting compassion and mindfulness. The activity helped the young learners understand the importance of caring for animals and maintaining personal well-being.

Integrating art with academics, students explored the concepts of symmetry and patterns through traditional Madhubani painting. This creative activity helped them understand mathematical concepts in a vibrant and culturally rich manner which was both educational and aesthetically enriching.

As part of their environmental awareness initiative, IPC wing students studied the structure and functioning of rainwater harvesting systems. The hands-on learning experience encouraged sustainability and practical application of science concepts. It sparked curiosity and concern for water conservation.

Students also attended Pariksha Pe Charcha by the Hon'ble Prime Minister. The session provided valuable insights on handling exam stress and maintaining mental wellness.

Showing empathy and social responsibility, MSS students collected and donated woollen clothes to those in need, under the Manavta Project. The initiative aimed to spread warmth and kindness during the winter season and was a heartfelt contribution to the society.

MSS students showcased their creativity and storytelling skills at the FILMIT Festival, organized by INTACH. Their film won the prestigious Best Cinematography Award, bringing laurels to the school. It was a moment of pride and celebration for the entire MSS family.

MSS Table Tennis players displayed outstanding talent and dedication, winning accolades in both the National as well as International Tournaments. Their achievements reflect the school's commitment to holistic development and sports excellence and they continue to inspire their peers with their success.
